Manager project transport and logistics, Procurement and supply chain

About me

Over the last 30 years of activity, I have held the position of head of department. The activity in these functions was associated with the organization and planning in transport and logistics, procurement and supply, the management of cargo flows, the organization of production flows, the preparation of new business processes.

I like to work with numbers, use several options for calculating estimates, to get maximum profits while minimizing costs and maintaining the level of quality, and also look for and identify internal reserves to maximize their use. I feel satisfied by participating in the organization, structuring and analyzing information, collecting data for a correct understanding of the task and formulating it.

And in general, I know that the correct formulation of tasks is the main requirement for making the right decision. This sometimes requires a "new architecture", creating flowcharts and algorithms, diagrams to better visualize the work steps, dividing a large task into components, identifying the weak link and avoiding duplicate functions.

There are no complex and unsolvable problems, they are simply formulated incorrectly.

When there was a lack of data, I relied on analysis and forecasting, product development history, and often used intuition. I use mathematical modeling, intuitive thinking and logic in my work every day. I make calculations and forecasts of the necessary measures to minimize risks. Drew up optimal work schedules, stipulated volumes and deadlines, conducted preliminary negotiations on the necessary costs, and also agreed on the work schedule in accordance with the predetermined agreement.

I like to be creative in the work process, I am constantly looking for and generating new ideas. I can communicate fluently in Romanian and Russian, I communicate intermediately in English. I can freely conduct business correspondence in 3 languages.

I am ready to share my experience and knowledge. And my intuition tells me that I can share many ideas and learn many new things. I am attracted by great potential and a new level of
