C++ Junior Developer

About me

I graduated from the Centre of Excellence in Energetics and Electronics, Chisinau, where I completed a 4-year program in Automation of Technological Processes, obtaining both a Bachelor's degree and an Automation Technician diploma. During my studies, I gained a solid foundation in general education and fundamental technical automation courses.

Independently, I have been studying Python and C++, reaching beginner project development level. I am a fast learner, with a strong preference for hands-on practice.

I am eager to gain real-world experience and open to starting with unpaid work in order to adapt to solving practical, real-life engineering problems.
